GOLF BY MOONLIGHT LATEST IN SOUTH

Golf by moonlight has been tried at Atlanta, Ga., and the "tryers" say it was great. They played nine holes, and it took an hour and a half. The balls used were painted with lustrous silver paint and shone like soap bubbles, when they shone at all. Six caddies were used by the two men who played. One caddy carried a lantern and went ahead to stand at the pin when the green was in striking distance. Only seven balls were lost, and of these four were sliced out of bounds into the woods. The caddies spread out over the course each time a player drove off.

Griffmen Open in Boston On Friday the Thirteenth

Nationals Leave Tonight for Short Road Trip, Playing Fourteen Games—Final Clash with Jennings' Tigers Today.

GAMES FOR GRIFFMEN ON THE PRESENT TRIP

At Boston.....Aug. 13, 14, 15.
At Cleveland.....Aug. 18, 19, 20.
At Detroit.....Aug. 21, 22.
At Chicago.....Aug. 24, 25, 26.
At St. Louis.....Aug. 27, 28, 29.

Immediately after today's battle against the Detroit Tigers the Nationals will hit the trail for Boston, where three games are to be played. From the Hub the Griffmen travel west, meeting all of the Western clubs for the final fling around that portion of the circuit. It may be significant to note that Washington starts this trip in Boston on Friday, the 13th, a day which many consider unlucky, but possibly the Red Sox will be the victims this time. The Griffmen only play fourteen games on this entire trip, as there are no postponed games either in the West or in Boston, and the local club returns to Washington before the month of August expires, meeting the New York Yankees here on the 21st in the opening clash of a five-game series.

Washington has only to maintain its present fast pace to keep within striking distance of the league leaders right down to the home stretch, and with a few breaks in luck to help bring about a spurt the Nationals should have something to say about winning the pennant, at least Clark Griffith thinks so, and he is not in the habit of talking foolishly.

For the final game of the Detroit series here this afternoon, which will start promptly at 2:45 o'clock, Joe Boehling or Doc Ayers will be in the box for Washington, Jean Dubuc will more than likely be Jennings' selection.

Joe Villa, of the New York Evening Sun, hits the nail on the head with the following hot shot: "Star players now drawing good salaries in organized baseball do not regard the Peds' ten cent tariff with favor. They know enough about the business end of the game to realize that the Peds, under these new conditions cannot meet big league expenses next year. For that reason the stars, whose contracts expire in the fall are not inclined to listen to alluring offers from the Peds. They say that they prefer to stick to their old employers who have no idea of cutting the admission rates. Ten cent baseball means the inevitable reduction of players' salaries in due time, and the stars appear to be satisfied to let well enough alone.

Recent figures show the American League base runners this season to be much better than their rivals in the National League. The American League has stolen 832, against 669 for the National. These figures, incidentally, bring up a rather interesting question. Is it true that the catchers in the National League are better or that their base runners are really slower?

NOTES OF THE VICTORY.

A quick double play set the Tigers down in the second inning. Bush robbed Acosta of a hit in the Nationals' half by a quick stop and peg. Acosta failed to get a safe hit, but was on the bags three times, walking twice and being hit by a pitched ball the other time.

Gallia fanned Stange on three pitched balls in the third. Coveleskie, who followed, also fanned. The Tigers pulled the Nationals' trick in this season when Bush forced Milan at second and threw to first ahead of Shanks.

Cobb popped up in the fourth he examined the ball for a trace of emery, but was unable to find it. Henry worked the hit and run successfully in the fourth with Merio Acosta singling to left and advancing the Cuban to third.

Burns had all of the put-outs in the fifth inning. Gandil hit a liner at Bush in the sixth inning that looked good for a single, but Bush grabbed the ball with one hand.

The Griffmen retired in order in the seventh inning on seven pitched balls. When Gallia fanned in this inning he almost fell off his pins after a healthy swing.

Two pinch hitters were used in the eighth and one in the ninth by the Tigers. All of them failed to deliver. Henry, handcuffed to the stars, whose contract expires in the fall are not inclined to listen to alluring offers from the Peds. They say that they prefer to stick to their old employers who

BEDIENT IS POUNDED AND TERRIERS LAND

St. Louis Hands Zeros to Buffeds, Winning Game, 8 to 0—Rebels Score in Slugfest.

Buffalo, Aug. 11.—St. Louis succeeded in blanketing the Buffeds for twenty-one successive innings, when they shut out the locals today by a score of 8 to 0. The Terriers clinched the game by knocking Bedient off the mound in two innings. Dave Davenport's usual flinx over the locals held good. He did not allow a man as far as third base. The fielding of Rogers at third base was sensational. Ten-cent baseball, the Buffalo club officials announced today, will be inaugurated at the local park on Saturday.

HILLTOP GRIDIRONERS TO REPORT HERE SEPTEMBER 6

The Georgetown University football squad will not train at Brighton Beach Race Track this fall as was announced early last spring. After carefully considering the plan, Graduate Manager Charley Cox decided that better results could be gained by having the candidates report at the Hilltop.

Coach Albert Exendine has requested that the candidates for the Blue and Gray report at the Hilltop on Wednesday, September 6, for the initial work-out for the 1916 campaign. Most of the players in the famous rush line of last season will be back, while many good back-field men are expected to report in the freshmen class. Coach John O'Reilly is slated to appear on the scene about September 1.

LIFE SAVING METHODS DEMONSTRATED AT KEITH'S

Contests for the amateur fancy diving championship of the District of Columbia, demonstrations of methods of saving persons, and an exhibit of life-saving appliances used by the U. S. Navy, will be given at Keith's Theatre, Manager Robbins has agreed to permit the use of the great glass water tank employed by Odiva, the famous diving star who will head the Keith bill next week, and who also will co-operate in carrying out the indoor carnival which is being promoted by Prof. Maurice Joyce and other well-known patrons of water sports who are stimulating public interest in the preservation of life in the water.

The opportunity presented by Odiva is one that has never occurred in this city and the great tank will enable a perfect view of diving and life saving methods under the water's surface. Secretary Donovan of the Board of District Commissioners has authorized the use of the Bathing Beach, Major Pullman, the superintendent of police, Mr. Longfellow of the American Red Cross, and other heads of local organizations teaching swimming and life saving are co-operating in making the events the most complete and interesting ever witnessed in any city.

The contests will occur at every performance next week, except Sunday, when the events will be given in the qualification events, and Saturday, the final contests. They will take place at the conclusion of Odiva's act and will not interfere with the running of the entire vaudeville bill provided for the week. Men, women, girls, and boys, expert in swimming science, will be entered, the males and females using the tank separately. The winners of both sexes at the qualifications will compete in the finals Saturday evening. Fancy diving costumes of modest and appropriate style will be worn and the utmost propriety will necessarily be observed. Suitable and valuable prizes will be awarded the winners in the different events, a number of leading merchants and business men showing their interest in the contests and their desire to cooperate in any move for public betterment by donating the prizes. Application blanks are being distributed by Odiva and all who last four are desiring to enter can address him care of Keith's Theatre.

YALE COACH QUILTS TO BECOME SCRIBE

New Haven, Aug. 11.—Frank Quinby, the Yale baseball coach, has joined the staff of the sporting department of a New Haven paper and will begin work immediately. It is known that Quinby has sent his resignation to the athletic committee of the university to take effect at once, although his term as coach has not yet expired. He is known to have been in the city since the coach and Capt. Lou Middlebrook, of the varsity nine, over the exercise of authority.

The announcement that Quinby stands ready to step down and out rather simplifies the situation, but many of Quinby's friends believe it would be a good thing for the varsity nine. Quinby continues as coach with all the powers he thinks necessary to make the work of a coach tell.

The captain-elect, Arthur Milburn, is popular with the players and is rated as a first-class player who will not stand for lack of unity in any department other than the ring with Willard. Sandy allowed as he heard he could last four rounds with a lion. So he donned ring attire and went in to do battle.

Of course, Willard's attendants did not recognize Ferguson. If they had this tale might never have been written. They thought he was a "softy," so the match went on.

All that is known is that Ferguson is still around, and when Willard's name is mentioned he smiles and allows how Sandy Ferguson is now was in the beginning, and will continue to be "some battler."

BEADLE AND CLAYTON MEET IN FINAL TODAY

Mrs. E. W. Ballard and John B. Beadle, of Reclamation, won their match in the second round of the mixed double tennis tournament at the Home Club from D. M. Greene and Miss Allison, of Land, by default yesterday.

Beadle and Mrs. Ballard then defeated Mrs. L. S. Robins, of Pension, and C. P. Knapp, of Reclamation, in the third round, 6-3, 5-6.

Beadle and Mrs. Ballard will meet H. O. Clayton, of Mine, in the final round of the men's singles and one of the best matches of the tournament is expected.

Gallia Tames The Tigers Yielding But Four Hits

Griffmen Play Flawless Ball and Put Over Shut-out in Third Game of Series—Coveleski Batted Hard in Spots—Score Is 3 to 0.

By WILLIAM PEET.

It took Bert Gallia and his "spitball" to tame the Tigers—the Nationals won yesterday after two previous unsuccessful attempts, and the score was 3 to 0.

Gallia held the Detroiters to four hits, only two of the enemy saw third base, and but 32 men face him during the afternoon.

"Well, we had to let you win a game in order to keep you in the league," shouted one of the Detroit players to McBride after it was all over.

Next October you guys can come down here and see us play in the world's series," was McBride's retort.

There was nothing to it but Gallia yesterday. The Texas held Cobb hitless. Crawford pooled out a belted double in the ninth, while Veatch's single in the second chapter fell on barren ground.

Any time a pitcher stops Cobb, Crawford and Veach, he usually stops the Detroit ball club, and Gallia was the laddybug to pull the trick yesterday.

Coveleskie Nicked for Two. Coveleskie, the big Pole, opposed Gallia and worked seven innings. One earned run was obtained by the Griffmen and the other through the medium of an error, but the batter was ample, as things turned out.

As a pinch hitter stepped to the plate for Coveleskie in the Tigers' eighth, Bernie Boland was on the mound when the Nationals came to bat during the second half of this chapter.

Boland was nicked for three hits and his own error—a bad peg—helped the home folks to another run.

Felding on both sides was clean, the work of Donnie Bush, Detroit's shortstop, standing out sharp and clean cut. Bush handled ten chances without a slip-up.

Rain Early in Game. Owing to the threatening weather, the crowd was small in the stadium during the first two innings, but not hard enough to cause a postponement.

Although the Nationals managed to clog second and first in the opening chapter there was no scoring, but in the following inning, thanks to Fitcher Gallia's timely pop, a two-run homer was scored.

Two were down in this inning, when McBride singled to left field. Gallia drove the ball to the score board for a double, sending in McBride.

A double play choked off a promising local rally in the third, but smart basing, together with Coveleskie's error, gave the Nationals another tally in the fourth. Gandil opened this chapter by striking out. Acosta walked and
